"A good school at the heart of the community"

Thursday 21st January 2016

Dear parents, carers, families and friends,

All that talk about snow came to nothing after all! Thanks for making sure that you (and we!) have all the information we need in case the weather forecast gets ominous again...

The children from Adventurers and Voyagers had a great day visiting the Herbert Museum and Art Gallery earlier this week – everyone recommended it very highly on their return. When I asked some of the children what had been the best bit of the day, they were adamant that it had been ‘everything!’ 😊

If you were at our Celebration Assembly last week, you’ll have seen some of the fantastic artwork the Pioneers have been working on recently – if you’re at the assembly again this Friday, you’ll be able to see it close up on display in the hall – here’s a little taster!

The other new display in the hall follows a Science theme, following our whole school Science day on Tuesday. Lots of amazing investigations to look at when you have time.

Our ‘Marvellous Me’ display just keeps growing and growing! Every time one of our children brings a super piece of work to show me, I take a photo for the display and we’ve been watching it grow since September. So much super work! (So many super children! 😊)

As always, if you have any questions, comments or concerns, just let us know.
All best wishes –

Ms Harrison and the staff of Heather Primary School

SUGAR SMART APP – I thought you might find this of interest, from the BBC news site earlier this month.

Parents are being urged to sign up for a free app which tells them the sugar content of food and drink.

The "sugar smart app", from Public Health England, works by scanning barcodes and revealing total sugar in cubes or grams.

Officials hope it will help combat tooth decay, obesity and type two diabetes and encourage families to choose healthier alternatives.

PHE says young children are eating three times more than the sugar limit.
